

JASMIN

California International Shorts Festival

Good evening Hollywood!
It's Jasmin in the building!

On December 17, 2017, Jasmin (jasmin.com) made its first appearance at a Hollywood film festival. Nothing else serves as better proof of the quality and taste of Jasmin's content than being selected and shortlisted at the California International Shorts Festival. This marks a huge milestone in the website's history, as breaking through to a mainstream audience and market is no simple feat.

The aim of the California International Shorts Festival (<http://www.calshorts.com/Home.html>) is to help and encourage independent filmmakers and writers by providing a showcase platform for their talents in a sociable networking environment. The type of content presented at the Festival includes all the following: Narrative Shorts, Documentary Shorts, Animated Shorts, Experimental Shorts, Student Shorts, Foreign Shorts, Music Videos, Commercials and Short Scripts.

Jasmin started its project of creating high quality content three years ago, and have been doing it full steam since, with thousands of video and picture submissions happening every year. Being featured at a film festival is another triumph that separates Jasmin from its competitors and serves as proof that this leader in the livestreaming world is dictating trends.

